Sharon M. McGowan is the Chief Strategy Officer and Legal Director of Lambda Legal, the country's largest and oldest legal organization committed to achieving full recognition of the civil rights of lesbians, gay men, bisexuals, transgender people and individuals living with HIV.

Prior to joining Lambda, Sharon served as the Principal Deputy Chief of the Appellate Section of the Civil Rights Division in Department of Justice, where she supervised attorneys working on a broad range of civil rights appellate matters in the US Supreme Court and federal courts of appeals. Sharon also served as co-chair of the Division's Lesbian, Gay Bisexual, Transgender and Intersex (LGBTI) Working Group. Sharon was repeatedly recognized by the Attorney General for her efforts on LGBT issues, receiving awards for her role in convincing the Department of Justice to stop defending the so-called "Defense of Marriage Act" (DOMA), in developing the arguments advanced by the United States in support of nationwide marriage equality, and in guiding the Department of Justice to its position that discrimination on the basis of sex encompasses discrimination on the basis of gender identity.

She also served as Acting General Counsel and as Deputy General Counsel for Policy at the US Office of Personnel Management (OPM) during the Obama Administration. As Acting General Counsel, Sharon ensured OPM's rapid and robust implementation of United States v. Windsor, resulting in married federal employees receiving health care and retirement benefits within days of the Supreme Court's decision, regardless of whether they lived in a state that recognized their marriage at the time. Earlier in her career, Sharon was a Staff Attorney with the ACLU's Lesbian Gay Bisexual Transgender & AIDS Project, and an associate in the Washington, DC office of Jenner & Block. Sharon clerked for the Honorable Norman H. Stahl on the US Court of Appeals for the First Circuit and for the Honorable Ginger Berrigan on the US District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana.
