As outlined in the Handbook of Academic Policies, the modified written work requirement for the J.D. program consists of successful completion of a professional writing requirement and an analytical research paper of at least 20-25 pages; both entail instructor and peer review of a draft. Successful completion of appropriate written work in clinics and designated course offerings satisfies the professional writing requirement, with no further documentation required.

Please indicate below how you completed the analytical paper:

Several supporting components of review are required: in addition to instructor review of a draft, J.D. students must both provide peer review to a fellow student on their analytical paper and receive and consider it for their own paper. For this purpose, peer review consists of written feedback on a substantially complete draft (prior to final submission to faculty). Neither informal nor structured discussion alone, i.e. workshoping, fulfills this requirement. Please indicate your completion of these elements:
